The attention of Justice Crutchfield in the Police Court was taken up for the most part of yesterday morning trying and sentencing William Smith for his numerous evil doings. William is a cotor-oid ex-convist, having only have a wiet, having only been out of th enitentiary three weeks. A few days ago the called on one Mary Walte and asked monded in the affirmative, and proenclosed it in the towel and wrapped it not a ball (2). He then wrapped the rag around the towel, and after sprinking some table sait on the round mass, gave it to the dusky maiden with instructions to place it in her bureau drawer and wait developments. This was done with due procaution, and then the girl grew suspicious. She opened the bundle of clothes hastily, and to her horror found no money there. In the mean time William had jumped over the back fence, and besides the money he also carried away a black dress valued at $1.50. The Justice gave William six months in jail for stealing the ## and likewise six months for stealing the dress. The charge against William of being a suspicious character was dis-

On the 16th day of November, 1861, he was passing this spot, full of happiness at the prospect of meeting the loved ones at home, on crutches and with his head bundaged up, suffering from two wounds received at the battle of Cedar Creck, He was accosted by a sweet-looking old lady, dressed-in mourning (doubtless for a dear son killed in hattle), who thus addressed this boy soldier: "My son (Ohl how fondly did she say thist) do you want anything? Can I serve you in any way?" With many thanks for her kind tender the boy strode on, not remizing till long after the delicacy of the inquiry. He was at that time a member of the Third Alabama Regiment, Early's Corps, and is now here as a member of the convention, and recalls this touching incident.

Death of Mr. Thomas Watkins Pem berton.

The death of Mr. Pemberton occurred at his home, on the Mechanicsville turn-pike, a few miles from the city, yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. He was in the 78th morning at 1 o clock. He was in the loss year of his age.

His death, though sudden, was not entirely unexpected, as he had been in failing health for nearly a year. He was well-known to the Tobacco Trade of this city, having been a manufacturer of tobacco all of his life. He was an earnest and consistent member of Trinity Methodist church, and the superintendent of the Sunday school for nearly fifty years. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn their loss.

Tobacco Acrenge-The Bethel Regiment Flag-The Populist Congressional Committee-The Naval Reserves Complimented-Briefs.

Tobacco-growers say the acreage in this section of the State is double that of last season.

This morning a delegation from Junius Daniel Camp, No. 515, United Confederate Veterans, escorted by the Governor's Guard, left for Richmond on a special train. R. H. Bradley, Marshal of the Supreme Court, who was in the First North Carolina Infantry, the "Bethel" Regiment, carried the "Bethel" flag. Mr. Bradley was one of the four men who were sent forward from that regiment to set fire to a house. One of the four was Henry Wyatt, the first North Carolinan

The Populist Congressional Committee is called by Otto Wilson, its chairman, to meet here to-morrow. It was decided quickly to make this call. Wilson says there will be a congressional convention, and the Popullsts will nominate a candidate. The Republicans nominated N. C. English for Congress, but he has not accepted, and Wilson says he has heard no one say he was a candidate or speak of endorsing him. Populists speak of English as a Populist. It seems his desire is to get the nomination for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

THE NAVAL RESERVES.

Major Hayes, United States army, re-turned to-day from Southport, where he witnessed the tour of duty of the North Carolina Naval Reserves. He made a report to Governor Carr. Speaking to your astic. NEW YORK, June 30.—John Hart Emilio Nunez, Captain John O'Brien, and Mate Edward Murphy, who are on trial in the United States Circuit Court for having, as is alleged, assisted, aided, and abetted a military expedition against the Spanish in Cuba, which expedition is said to have sailed on the steamship Bermuda from this port March 15th last, were on hand promptly this morn-ing. James A. Smith, steward of the Bermuda, was recalled and cross-examined by Lawyer Reubens. The withess became confused and contradicted testimony he had given at his examination before the United States Commissioner in Philadelphia. He admitted that he had never heard any military orders given on board of the Bermuda. This was a point for the defence, as against the effort of the prosecution to show that regular military organization and discipline existed on the ship.

OUR LOST CAUSE.

A Beautiful War Souvenir to Be Offered Patrons of the Dispatch.

As a companion picture to OUR HE-ROES AND FLAGS, which was eagerly sought after by the patrons of the Dispatch, we have gotten up one to be called OUR LOST CAUSE. It is a beautiful design in colors, with President and Vice-President of the Confederacy and the last Cabinet, together with Jackson and Lee, As likenesses, the portraits cannot be sur-passed, and under each is a fac-simile autograph. There is an exact reproduction of the seal of the Confederacy, together with a picture of the "Merrimac," A Very Sad Accident in Floyd or "Virginia," and a stand of Confederate flags. The work is done in the highest style of art, and will prove a most attractive souvenir. The picture will soon be issued from our counter. Due notice of time will be announced hereafter. Price, 25 cents.

THE DISPATCIPS REUNION EDITION The best souvenir of your visit to Richmond that you can carry home with you is a copy of the Dispatch's 24-page Reunion edition of the 30th It is a "live" paper, and full of interest for to-day, yet time cannot state its infinite variety of matter pertaining to our city and our cause. Years and years hence, whoever possesses a copy will refe to it with carious interest, and in the light of its bright pages live over again the Confederate Reunion

It is the best guide that you could nossibly have to assist you in seeing Richmond. One of the sweetest pictures that it gives is a view of the President's Mansion ("White House of the Confederacy"), taken House of the Confederacy"), taken during the war, before the hill in front of it had been built over, when Mr. Davis could sit at his window and see the flashing of the guns a and see the flashing of the gans at Mechanicsville. It also contains a full list of the surviving generals of the Confederate army. It has a page of letter-press and pictorial descriptions of the design adopted for the monument to President Davis. It is crowded with por-traits of distinguished Confederates, twing and dead. It is a evelopedia living and dead. It is a cyclopedia of information about Richmond during the war. It is full of readable matter bearing upon the organization of the United Confederate Veterans. It has a unique puzzle, in which the portraits of Davis, Lee, and Jackson play an important part. and Jackson play an important part.
Its pictures are the largest and hest ever printed here, and never before were so many and such costly ones published in any single issue of a Hichmond paper. Its entire front page is covered with an artistic corraving, in which Virginis, ersonified by a beautiful woman, is shown standing at the gates of the city welcoming the veterans as they pour in, while Fame trumpels their praises.

To short, it is a newspaper, war history, city guide-book, biographihistory, city guide-book, biographical dictionary of Confederate worthless, and programme of the Reunion combined.

Copies ready for mailing may be honcht at our counter, Price, 3 cents.

NEW YORK June 20 -- In Wall street there was a complete reversal of speculative sentiment to day. According to cable advices, the utterances of Mr. McKinley on the currency question led to a much more confident feeling in London and on the Continent, and the change was re flected in buying orders for nearly 40,000 shares from abroad. The result was a decidedly higher opening, the gains varying from 1-2 to 1 per cent., right at th start. The local bears attempted to check the rising tendency by putting out fresh lines of shorts, but as the foreign demand continued, and there was considerable inquiry for the long account here, the upward movement made further progress as the day advanced.
